"The therapy equipment we received [from Elevations] our son uses on a daily basis. We were able to make a "sensory" room in our basement so that when our son is overstimulated or dysregulated, he can go down to that room and swing or punch the punching bag to help him calm down. It has been such a great tool for him to use. Thank you for all you do!" - An Elevations Parent

Our November grant cycle is coming up and we need help from you. Did you know the average cost of a copay for a required therapy visit is only $30? No family should have to choose between putting food on the table or giving their child the necessary care & services they need.

With help from involved community members like you, we can change the trajectory of a child's life and give them access to all the tools they need to thrive.
